

Collette Conner is a certified life coach, author, content writer and public speaker, who is passionate about equipping others with the right knowledge and skill set to help them turn their aspirations into reality. Known for her outstanding problem-solving skills and natural charisma, she is keen on inspiring people to step out of their limitations and live on a higher level.

Specializing in personal power, single parenting and purpose coaching, Collette is committed to helping others raise above challenges and providing them with strategies to make their lives a masterpiece. With over 3 years experience in public speaking and 23 years of single parenting, Collette understands how challenging it is to raise children as a single parent and is here to provide support and the right tools needed to help people become better at it. She has spoken on several platforms, participated in several radio programs and podcasts concerning single parenting and how to make it work. She is also the author of "Been There Done That, Keeping Your Sanity While Single Parenting " which has encouraged many to overcome their own obstacles in life. She has most recently co-authored "Promises, God's Assurance On The Cross For Our Crown", devotional book.

As the founder and C.E.O of Collette Conner Consulting, she is skilled at empowering others to become more. Her innovative and refreshing views on the subjects she covers, is what her audience loves about her. She will be completing her BS in Public Affairs from Texas Southern University this summer. When she is not speaking or motivating others, Collette enjoys reading, listening to podcasts and learning new things daily.
