

Kayshaun came from a medical background as a nurse. Her passion for organic skincare started in 2002 when she was able to avoid harsh chemical treatments by healing herself using alternative holistic methods. Over the last 2 decades, Kayshaun has studied holistic alternatives in all aspects of her life; medicine, skincare, home practices, and beyond. Along the way, she has continued healing herself using these practices as well as her friends and family.

Kayshaun decided it was her mission to share this healing knowledge and set out in launching her businesses. She launched Renew You Body Butter in 2018 to offer people luxury organic skincare that is ethically sourced and handcrafted. She is set to launch her second business surrounding holistic lifestyle coaching by the end of 2020.
