

Lakeisha Harrell is a style educator and thought transformer! She is first a lover of God, second a wife, and third a mother to two wonderful little genius boys. She has loved fashion since the age of 9. Once introduced, it was no turning back or no diluting the passion. La.(pronounced L.A., like the city) Harrell Styling Company was birthed 10 years ago.

I've been styling and shopping professionally for the past 9 years working with all types of clients(ministry leaders, speakers, entrepreneurs, parents, etc.) and budgets. And now, God has her to educating people on their personal style and transforming how think of themselves! I help women of faith to tap into their creativity and confidence in style. One of the most rewarding thhings putting a smile on someone's face that thought they wouldn't smile or smile again.

God gave me "styling for God" about 5 years ago. I'm just being obedient in using it to edify His people. I get in your business, your thoughts, and your closet(s) an teach you how to style you in your current and future lifestyle! Style shouldn't just have an impact outwardly, but more important inwardly. I'm here to just assist with channeling your personal style and changing those thoughts you have about yourself! I want you feel and think as good as you look and feel! Old style and thoughts are past away, lets bring you into the NEW!!!
