

Tierashia Adair, CEO of A Message of Love and T. Adair Enterprises

Tierashia (Tur-raw-sha) Adair is a Texas, Waller County native who graduated from Prairie View A & M University with an undergraduate degree in Drama and a minor in Business Administration. She also obtained two master degrees in Curriculum and Instruction in Reading and Special Education. She is a wife of 16 and a half years and a mother of three.

She served as an elementary educator for 14 years in Hempstead ISD. She also currently serves as a substitute teacher in Waller ISD when she is available. She has served as youth director at two different churches and is an ordained minister and licensed missionary-evangelist who has traveled to Kenya four times to Little Eden Children's Home with Mike Eden Ministries and served as women's conference leader in 2017 and 2018.

Furthermore, she is the founder and CEO of AMOL: A Message of Love, Inc. is a nonprofit organization for girls and families whose mission is to invest in the WHOLE person: spiritual, social, emotional, physical and intellectual. In 2018, she launched her for-profit business, T. Adair Enterprises, LLC, which is a project-based business that focuses on "building the city by building the people".

She has a great heart for children, families, broken people and for missions. She is a creative person who loves all forms of art, enjoys reading and travelling. Her desire is to fulfill her God-given purpose and be a blessing to as many people as she can, for as long as she can, wherever she can.
